Coming Events

Solo Cantatas by Bach, Handel and Schutz

Charles Walker
Tenor
George Shangrow, Harpsichord

March 24, 1985 — 8:00 p.m.
Wallingford United Methodist Church
2115 42nd N. Seattle

Charles Walker is a virtuoso performer of literature from the High Baroque. He last performed in Seattle in "The Ballad of Baby Doe" and is pleased to return for this recital, and for the tenor arias in the St. Matthew Passion.

Call the Bach Line for Ticket Reservations: 524-0603

Easter Sunday Cantatas

April 7, 8:00 p.m.
University Unitarian Church
6556 35th NE, Seattle

BWV 4: Crist lag in Todesbanden
BWV 6: Bleib bei uns, denn es will Abend werden
BWV 31: Der Himmel lacht, der Erde jubilert

Call the Bach Line for Ticket Reservations: 524-0603

The Broadway Symphony in Concert

George Shangrow, conductor

Prokofiev: Piano Concerto No. 3
Arthur Barnes, Piano Soloist
Rossini: La Gazza Ladra Overture
(The Thieving Magpie)
Brahms: Symphony No. IV

April 14, 1985
Meany Hall
3:00 p.m.

Call 524-0603 for ticket reservations members from
THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY
George Shangrow, conductor

Viola
Sam Williams, principal
Beatrice Dolf
Katherine McWilliams
Katrina Sharples
Stephanie Read
Cello
MaryAnn Tapino, solo continuo
Ron Wilson
Julie Wheeler
Rosemary Berner
Bass
David Couchois
Jo Hansen

Flute
Erlin Adair
Janeen Shigley
Oboe
Shannon Hill
Dan Williams
Bassoon
Paul Raffinelli
Organ
James Denman
Harpichord
Robert Keelley

THE SEATTLE CHAMBER SINGERS
George Shangrow, conductor

Soprano
Belle Chernev, Crissa Cugini
Laurie Hungerford-Flint
Catherine Haight
Dorothy Harwood
Pamela Hill
Kathe Kern
Melanie Holmes
Michele DeMaris
Mary Koch
Jill Kraakmo
Stephanie Lathrop
Nancy Lewis
Mary Jane Loizou
Margaret Marshall
Joan Mitchell
Barbara Parsons
Margaret Penne
Nancy Robinson
Liesel Romberg
Heather Smith
Elizabeth Sterling
Jeanne Van Bronkhorst

 Alto
Laila Hammond Adams
Marta Chaloupka
Rachel DeGroot
Gloria Derbarka
Keren Goldfeder
Paula Hood
Mary Beth Hughes
Ruth Libby
Laurie Medill
Susan Miller
June Phillips
Janet Ellen Reed
Georgia Rohrbough
Mary Siebert
Nedra Slauzon
Peggy Smith
Claire Thomas
Kay Verelius
Jane Seidman Vork
Deborah Wootley

 Tenor
John Addison
Ronald Haight
Jim Johnson
Stephen Kellogg
Phil Morrison
Tom Nesbitt
Jerry Queue

 Bass
Gerard Beemster
John Behr
Gustav Blazek
Timothy Braun
William Colbert
Andrew Danilich
Steven Hale
Mark Lawrence
Bob Schlipperott
Roger Schmuckle
Dirk Singletary
Evan Stults
Richard Wykoff

PROGRAM NOTES by George Shangrow

The Passion story has been presented in Christian churches since the 4th Century. These presentations were in dramatic form with several readers handling the different characters: Christ, the Evangelist, the various individuals, and the crowd (turba). As early as the 9th century instructions as to interpretation appear: moving, held back, and to be sung higher. And around this same time the tradition that the Evangelist be sung by a tenor or higher voice and the Christ be sung by a bass or lower voice was established. The Passion story was presented between Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday and in Leipzig was used for the Good Friday vesper service.

The Lutheran church continued the Roman tradition of not allowing elaborate music during the six weeks of Lent. This obviously proved a boon for church composers because it allowed a large amount of time and concentration for the large works needed for Passion and Easter time. With the St. John Passion, Bach presented his first major work during his new job as Cantor of St. Thomas Church. He probably composed some of the work during his time at Kothen — incorporating many of the techniques of instrumental and chamber composition he had developed there — but the bulk of the work was composed during the three weeks prior to the presentation.

Of the five Passion settings composed by Bach, only the St. John and the St. Matthew remain intact. Bach himself reportedly performed only two of these two works so it would seem that the loss of these works may not be as much a problem. Scholars feel that Bach did not think the other works were as good as the two mentioned and that he probably took the more valuable movements and sections from them and used them in other pieces. The change to a grand setting of the Passion with choruses, arias, different singers, and large instrumental forces came as a result of the creation of opera, oratorio, and cantata forms in the 17th century. The devices of monody accompanied by continuo or orchestra (recitative and accompagnato), arias with obligato instruments, extensive choral movements, and polyphonic arrangements of choral melodies were all adopted for use in the Passion settings.

The recitative obviously advances the story. In the St. John Passion the Evangelist, Christ, and all the other individual characters are sung the recitative secco (only keyboard and cello). The chorus writing is one of the great features of this Passion. The turba choruses (crowd scenes) during the second part of the work provide a dramatic setting in the Judgement Hall unseen in any setting of the Passion before or since. The chorale settings form a sort of idealized congregation — in Bach's time it is probable that the congregation sang along on the chorale melody. The texts of the chorales reflect the personal feelings of the listeners as a reaction to the story at any given time.

The arias are musical settings where text and music combine to isolate and explore a single emotional idea in a self-contained form. These works heighten the story in an emotional way that relates directly to the Gospel story but has text from another source. There are a number of librettists who have written texts for the Passions, but for the most well known of these is Barthold Heinrich Brockes. Settings of Brockes Passion have been composed by Händel, Telemann, Reiser, and Mattheson — all of them famous at the time — and all performed in Hamburg on four different days of Holy Week in 1719.

The musical form of the work does not well conform to that of the Gospel text. It is through the genius of Bach, not St. John, that the work as a whole has a form and is so well able to convey the emotion inherent in the meaning of the Gospel. The center of the work is the chorale, "Durch Adams Fall"... which is one of the best examples of the text central to the understanding and religious meaning of the Passion. Around this chorale the various choruses form a large frame. The music of the surrounding choruses is virtually identical with different texts. The relationships between the texts of the similar choruses is an interesting one from an emotional point of view which the listener should investigate.

The choruses "Wir haben ein Gesetz" and "Lasset des diesen loh" frame the central chorale. It always feels to me that the height of dramatic irony is displayed here in the inflexibility of humankind. Outside of these two works are the crucify choruses, "Kreuzige, Kreuzige" and "Weg, wie mit dem". Framing these are two sets of pieces. The earlier one starting with "Nicht dieses, sondern Barmhatur!" continues with the beautiful and reflective "Betrachte" and the amazing tenor aria "Erwage". This first set concludes with the mocking chorus...
Johann Sebastian Bach
1685–1750

JOHANNES-PASSION
The Passion According to St. John
BWV 245

The Evangelist ....... Paul Anderson
Jesus ............... Michael Delos
Pontius Pilate ...... Timothy Braun

Marianne Weltmann
soprano
Louise Marley
mezzo-soprano
Barton Green
tenor
Peter Kechley
bass

MENDELSSOHN String Quartet Op. 81 (Unfinished)
SHOSTAKOVICH String Quartet Op. 110, No. 8
BEETHOVEN String Quartet Op. 74 in E-flat Major

March 2 — East Shore Unitarian Church, Bellevue
March 16 — Willingford United Methodist Church, Seattle

8:00 P.M.
Admission $5. Senior $3.

The BRILLIG STRING QUARTET

35% off
Selected current bestsellers
Fiction & Nonfiction
Cloth & Paperback
PLUS
• Free postage on books mailed anywhere in the U.S.A.
• Free special order service
• Free gift wrapping
• Free parking
• Free book covers
• Use your bankcards

COME IN OR CALL
(206) 634-3400
We've been serving Seattle over 85 years.

Open Thursday nights till 9. Park free. Use your bankcards.

University Book Store
1220 University Way N.E., Seattle, WA 98105 • 634-3400

OUR PATRONS

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Adams
Dr. and Mrs. Carl Berner
Mrs. Carol E. Blakey
Mr. and Mrs. Tim Burton
Mr. Michael Conrowe
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Deacon
Ms. Beatrice Dolf
Dr. and Mrs. Burton Eggertsen
Mr. Fritz Klein
Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. Leff
Ms. Ruth Libby
Ms. Margaret Lueters
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis
Ms. Marcia McElvain
Dr. and Mrs. Gil Middleton

Rev. Rebecca Parker
Dr. and Mrs. David Pittkeithley
Ms. Stephanie Reed
Ms. Nancy Robinson
Mrs. Liesel Rombauds,
in memory of her mother
Dr. and Mrs. James E. Sturla
Mrs. Peggy Smith
Ms. Valerie Ann Taylor
Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tenenbaum
Dr. Richard E. Thornton
Dr. and Mrs. James Wagner
Mrs. Donna Weller
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wheatley
Mr. Bob Witty

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers
would deeply appreciate your gift of support. Tax deductible contributions may be sent to RSSCS, 7324 35th N.E. #4, Seattle, WA 98115 (206)324-0623.
Experience the pinnacle of THE BACH YEAR

Johann Sebastian Bach's

St. Matthew Passion

March 17, 1985 — 3:00 p.m.
Meany Hall, U.W.

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers
The Choir of the Sound
The Columbia Boys Choir
George Shangrow, conductor

The Evangelist: Brian Trevor
Jesus: Peter Kechley
Soprano: Laurie Haney
Alto: Marcia Bellamy
Tenor: Charles Walker
Bass: Michael Delos

Call the BACH LINE: 524-0603 for ticket reservations.

"Sei gegrusset" where the soldiers bow and curse to Christ referring to him as the "King of the Jews" in a very nasty way (as represented in the fast wind parts.)

The corresponding set after the "Weg, weg" choruses begins with "Wir haben keinen Konig" — certainly a musical reflection of the Barrabas choruses and a textual reinforcement. The following aria for bass "Elk" with its fascinating interjections by the chorus provides a dramatic interjection towards Golgotha — and an almost direct opposite to the arias before mentioned. Finally, the chorus with the identical music to that of "Sei gegrusset" is the "Schreibe nicht" chorus where the crowd urges Pilate not to put the inscription above the cross. Note the ironic combination with the "Grueting" choruses depicting the soldiers' earlier mocking. These choruses, and the two framing chorales "Ach, grosser Konig" and "In meines Herrn Grunde", form the great central core of the John Passion. As the framework extends, we see that the outer frames contain most of the arias and other chorales finally leading to the grand opening and closing choruses. Not included is the very last chorale "Ach Herr, lass dein lieb' Engelchen". This very simple, straightforward statement Bach found to be the best way to contain or sum up the tremendous emotional content of the musical and scriptural work.

In listening to the Passions, as in listening to opera, it is important to follow the text translation. Bach is a master at setting text in recitative and so knowing what each word means as it is sung can truly heighten the enjoyment of the music at the same time it gives a greater appreciation for Bach's genius. We perform the work in German because Bach wrote it in German. The individual works do not fit with the musical intention when the work is performed in another language. The Evangelist needs to be regarded as storyteller supreme. The role of the various personages and crowds are interjected at his commands, and, as in any good drama, cue pick up is the essence in conveying the emotional content. Bach's "lead-ins" to the various choruses are especially fine.

Although Bach made several changes to the St. John Passion, he ultimately returned to the original as he had composed it in 1723. This is unusual for Bach as most of the time he absolutely stuck with any revisions he had made. The work was done repeatedly by Bach in Leipzig over the next 27 years as was the St. Matthew Passion. For the John Passion, both Bach's score and the Leipzig performance materials have come down to us intact so scholars have the sources needed for accurate study of the work.

For today's performance we are using a chorus that would be perhaps one and one-half to two times the size of Bach's forces, and, accordingly, the orchestra is correspondingly larger. This decision is based partly on the musical demands of the work which make me think that if Bach had had available the larger forces he probably would have used them, and partly on the fact that our hall is much larger and has much dryer acoustics than the St. Nicolas Church in Leipzig (where the work was first presented.)

We use the Barenreiter edition for today's performance. This is taken directly from the Neue Bach Gesellschaft.
Experience the pinnacle of THE BACH YEAR

Johann Sebastian Bach's

St. Matthew Passion

March 17, 1985 — 3:00 p.m.
Meany Hall, U.W.

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers
The Choir of the Sound
The Columbia Boys Choir
George Shangrow, conductor

The Evangelist: Brian Trevor
Jesus: Peter Kechley
Soprano: Laurie Haney
Alto: Marcia Bellamy
Tenor: Charles Walker
Bass: Michael Delos

Call the BACH LINE: 524-0603 for ticket reservations.

"Sei geprieset" where the soldiers bow and curtsy to Christ referring to him as the "King of the Jews" in a very nasty way (as represented in the fast wind parts.) The corresponding set after the "Weg, weg" chorus begins with "Wir haben keinen Königt" — certainly a musical reflection of the Barrambus chorus and a textual reinforcement. The following aria for bass "Eilt" with its fascinating interjections by the chorus provides a dramatic directive towards Golgotha — and an almost direct opposite to the arias before mentioned. Finally, the chorus with the identical music to that of "Sei geprieset" is the "Schrëibe nicht" chorus where the crowd instructs Pilate not to put the inscription above the cross. Note the ironic combination with the "Gesänge" chorales depicting the soldiers' earlier mocking. These chorales, and the two framing chorales "Ach, grosser Königt" and "In meines Herzens Grunde", form the great central core of the John Passion. As the framework extends, we see that the outer frames contain most of the arias and other chorales finally leading to the grand opening and closing choruses. Not included is the very last chorale "Ach Herr, lass dein lieb Engelein". This very simple, straightforward statement Bach found to be the best way to contain or sum up the tremendous emotional content of the musical and scriptural work.

In listening to the Passions, as in listening to opera, it is important to follow the text translation. Bach is a master at setting text in recitative and so knowing what each word means as it is being sung can truly heighten the enjoyment of the music at the same time it gives a greater appreciation for Bach's genius. We perform the work in German because Bach wrote it in German. The individual words do not fit with the musical intention when the work is performed in another language. The Evangelist needs to be regarded as storyteller supreme. The roles of the various personages and crowds are interjected at his commands, and, as in any good drama, cue pick up is the essence in conveying the emotional content. Bach's "lead-ins" to the various choruses are especially fine.

Although Bach made several changes to the St. John Passion, he ultimately returned to the original as he had composed it in 1723. This is unusual for Bach as most of the time he absolutely stuck with any revisions he had made. The work was done repeatedly by Bach in Leipzig over the next 27 years as was the St. Matthew Passion. For the John Passion, both Bach's score and the Leipzig performance materials have come down to us intact so scholars have the sources needed for accurate study of the work.

For today's performance we are using a chorus that would be perhaps one and one-half to two times the size of Bach's forces, and, accordingly, the orchestra is correspondingly larger. This decision is based partly on the musical demands of the work which make me think that if Bach had had available the larger forces he probably would have used them, and partly on the fact that our hall is much larger and has much drier acoustics than the St. Nicholas Church in Leipzig (where the work was first presented.)

We use the Barenreiter edition for today's performance. This is taken directly from the Neue Bach Gesellschaft.
Johann Sebastian Bach
1685–1750

JOHANNES-PASSION

The Passion According to St. John
BWV 245

The Evangelist ...... Paul Anderson
Jesus ............... Michael Delos
Pontius Pilate ...... Timothy Braun

Marianne Weltmann
soprano
Louise Marley
mezzo-soprano
Barton Green
tenor
Peter Kechley
bass

the BRILLIG STRING QUARTET

MENDELSSOHN String Quartet Op. 81 (Unfinished)
SHOSTAKOVICH String Quartet Op. 110, No. 8
BEETHOVEN String Quartet Op. 74 in E-flat Major

March 2 — East Shore Unitarian Church, Bellevue
March 16 — Wallingford United Methodist Church, Seattle

8:00 P.M.
Admission $5. Seniors & Students $3.

Fritz Klein  Terrie Boggs  Betty Agert  Barbara Shirk

35% off
Selected current bestsellers
Fiction & Nonfiction, Cloth & Paperback.
PLUS
• Free postage on books mailed anywhere in the U.S.A.
• Free special order service
• Free gift wrapping
• Free parking
• Free book covers
• Use your bankcards
COME IN OR CALL
(206) 634-5400
We've been serving Seattle over 85 years.

University Book Store
1520 University Way N.E., Seattle, WA 98105 • 206-634-3600

OUR PATRONS

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Adams
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berner
Mrs. Carol E. Blakey
Mr. and Mrs. Tim Burton
Mr. Michael Conroy
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Deacon
Ms. Beatrice Dolf
Dr. and Mrs. Burton Eggerson
Mr. Fritz Klein
Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. Leff
Ms. Ruth Libby
Ms. Margaret Luethers
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Leyse
Ms. Marcia McElvain
Dr. and Mrs. Gil Middleton

Rev. Rebecca Parker
Dr. and Mrs. David Pittkethley
Ms. Stephanie Read
Ms. Nancy Robinson
Mrs. Liesel Rombaums,
in memory of her mother
Dr. and Mrs. James E. Scullock
Mrs. Peggy Smith
Ms. Valerie Ann Taylor
Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tenenbaum
Dr. Richard E. Thornton
Dr. and Mrs. James Wagner
Mrs. Donna Weller
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wheatley
Mr. Bob Witty

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers
would deeply appreciate your gift of support. Tax deductible contributions may be sent to BS/SCS, 7324 35th N.E. #4, Seattle, WA 98115 (206) 324-0623.
THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY

George Shangrow, conductor

Viola: Viola
Fritz Klein, concertmaster
Rebecca Soukup
Avton Maletsy
Kenna Smith
Diane Kewney-Lange
Margaret Olson

Violin: Violin
Viola: Viola
Soo Williamson, principal
Beatrice Dolf
Katherine McWilliams
Katrina Sharples
Stephanie Read
Cello: Cello
MaryAnn Tapino, solo continuo
Ron Wilson
Julie Wheeler
Rosemary Berner
Bass: Bass
David Coach
Jo Hansen

Flute: Flute
Erin Adair
James Schigley
Oboe: Oboe
Shannon Hill
Dan Williams
Horn: Bassooon
Paul Raffinelli
Organ: Organ
James Danman
Harpsichord: Robert Keckley

THE SEATTLE CHAMBER SINGERS

George Shangrow, conductor

Soprano: soprano
Belle Chenault
Crissa Cugini
Laurie Hungerford-Flint
Caroline Haight
Dorothy Harwood
Pamela Hill
Kathe Kern
Melanie Holms
Michele DeMaris
Mary Koch
Maryl Krassko
Stephanie Lathrop
Nancy Lewis
Mary Jane Loizou
Margaret Marshall
Joan Mitchell
Barbara Pasatos
Margaret Perine
Nancy Robinson
Liesel Rombotz
Heather Smith
Elizabeth Sterling
Jenne Van Bronkhorst

PROGRAM NOTES by George Shangrow

The Passion story has been presented in Christian churches since the 4th Century. These presentations were in dramatic form with several readers handling the different characters: Christ, the Evangelist, the various individuals, and the crowd (turbas). As early as the 9th century instructions as to interpretation appear: moving, held back, and to be sung higher. And around this same time the tradition that the Evangelist be sung by a tenor or higher voice and the Christ be sung by a bass or lower voice was established. The Passion story was presented between Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday and in Leipzig was used for the Good Friday vesper service.

The Lutheran church continued the Roman tradition of not allowing elaborate music during the six weeks of Lent. This obviously proved a boon for church composers because it allowed a large amount of time and concentration for the large works needed for Passion and Easter time. With the St. John Passion, Bach presented his first major work during his new job as Cantor of St. Thomas Church. He probably composed some of the work during his time at Kethen — incorporating many of the techniques of instrumental and chamber composition he had developed there — but the bulk of the work was composed during the three weeks prior to the presentation.

Of the first Passion settings composed by Bach, only the St. John and the St. Matthew remain intact. Bach himself reportedly performed only the two so far it would seem that the loss of the works may not be so much a problem. Scholars feel that Bach did not think the other works were as good as the two mentioned and that he probably took the more valuable movements and sections from them and used them in other pieces.

The change to a grand setting of the Passion with choruses, arias, different singers, and large instrumental forces came as a result of the creation of opera, oratorio, and cantata forms in the 17th century. The devices of monody accompanied by continuo or orchestra (recitative and accompagnato), arias with obligato instruments, extensive choral movements, and polyphonic arrangements of choral melodies were all adopted for use in the Passion settings.

The recitative obviously advances the story. In the St. John Passion the Evangelist, Christ, and all the other individual characters are sung the recitative secco (only keyboard and cello). The chorus writing is one of the great features of this Passion. The turba choruses (crowd scenes) during the second part of the work provide a dramatic setting in the Judgment Hall unseen in any setting of the Passion before or since. The chorale settings form a sort of idealized congregation — in Bach's time it is probable that the congregation sang along on the chorale melody. The texts of the chorales reflect the personal feelings of the listeners as a reaction to the story at any given time.

The arias are musical settings where text and music combine to illustrate and explore a single emotional idea in a self-contained form. These works heighten the story in an emotional way that relates directly to the Gospel story but has text from another source. There are a number of librettists who have written texts for the Passions, but by far the most well-known of these is Barthold Heinrich Brockes. Settings of Brockes Passion have been composed by Hasse, Telemann, Keiser, and Mattheson — all of them famous at the time — and all performed in Hamburg on four different days of Holy Week in 1719.

The musical form of the work does not well conform to that of the Gospel text. It is through the genius of Bach, not St. John, that the work as a whole has a form and is so well able to convey the emotion inherent in the meaning of the Gospel. The center of the work is the chorale "Ducce dilectissime," which is a musical rendering of the text central to the understanding and religious meaning of the Passion. Around this chorale the various choruses form a large frame. The music of the surrounding choruses is virtually identical with different texts. The relationships between the texts of the similar choruses is an interesting one from an emotional point of view which the listener should investigate.

The choruses "Wir haben ein Gesetz" and "Lasset den dichten lorn" frame the central chorale. It always feels to me that the height of dramatic irony is displayed here in the inflexibility of humankind. Outside of these two works are the crucify choruses, "Kreuzig, Kreuzig" and "Weg, weg mit dem tintenflasche" framing these are two sets of pieces. The earlier one starting with "Nicht dieselben" and the latter "Betrachte" and the amazing tenor aria "Erwage". This first set concludes with the mocking chorus.
Coming events

Solo Cantatas by Bach, Handel and Schutz

Charles Walker
Tenor
George Shangrow, Harpsichord

March 24, 1985 — 8:00 p.m.
Wallingford United Methodist Church
2115 42nd N. Seattle

Charles Walker is a virtuoso performer of literature from the High Baroque. He last performed in Seattle in "The Ballad of Baby Doe" and is pleased to return for this recital, and for the tenor arias in the St. Matthew Passion.

Call the Bach Line for ticket reservations: 524-0603

The Bach Year Presents

Easter Sunday Cantatas
April 7, 8:00 p.m.
University Unitarian Church
6556 35th NE, Seattle

BWV 4: Cris auge di Todesbanden
BWV 6: Bleib bei uns, denn es will Abend werden
BWV 31: Der Himmel lacht

Call the Bach Line for ticket reservations: 524-0603

The Broadway Symphony in Concert
George Shangrow, conductor

Prokofiev: Piano Concerto No. 3
Arthur Barnes, piano soloist
Rossini: La Gazza Ladra Overture
(The Thieving Magpie)
Brahms: Symphony No. IV

April 14, 1985
Meany Hall
3:00 p.m.

Call 524-0603 for ticket reservations

Johann Sebastian Bach
Johannes Passion
The Passion According to St. John

Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers
George Shangrow, conductor

February 24, 1985
3:00 p.m.
Meany Hall, U.W.