OUR CONTRIBUTORS AND PATRONS

ASSOCIATE (to $24.00)

Chester Kingsbury
Fred & Olga Klein
Ken Kraning
Julia Lawrence
Martha Leche
Jamie Lecker
Denise Leclaire
Ruth Little
Debbie Livingston
Peggy Lockman
Nora MacDonald
Laura McDowell
Helen McGough
Cheryl McIntosh
Margaret McLane
Conn McQuinn
Brady Mertz
Georg & Norma Meyers
The Rev. Peter and Mary Moore
Maria Morton
Dick Murrill
Allen & Elizabeth Moses
Marian Mowatt
J. Rick Murchie
Ellen Murray
Jeanne Nadeau
Buttut Nevet
Maara O'Brien
Susan O'Brien
Rochelle Owyshock Jackson

Betsey Page
Kathy Pallas
Joleen Palmer
Katie Payne
Dix C. Ferguson
Richard Perrigo
aves Pickering
Robert Pope
Barbara Post
Elizabeth Pounds
Art Pringle
Richard & Joan Reed
Mirtam Reed
Dale & Sally Roberson
Phyllis Rosali
Michael Rosella
H. K. Rowe
Phyllis Rowe
Charlotte Salesak
Robert & Eleanor Sanders
Alex Sargent Photography
Kurt & Barb Schauermann
Van Schippers
Singe Schippers
Bob Schippers
Samantha Schippers
Iva Schulz
Jan Schwert
Susan Scott
John Sears
Juliana Seymour
Reba Shangrow
Julie Simpson
Zu Ann Sites

Janet Sittig
Howie Sloan
Eugene & Marcia Smith
Holly Smith
Daniel Snars
Linda Snaider
Kaye Stafford
Elaine Stanovsky
John Stenuith
Ralph & Marilyn Stevens
Richard Strinsky
Diane Swank
Mary Ann Swenson
Amy Swingen
David Thompson
Shari Tuun
Patricia Walker
Tom Walker
Rosita Walsh
Mark & Ines L. Webber
Jim & Pam Weibler
Eric Weisberg
Kevin White
Irene White
John J. Wickman
Bill & Carol Wiesebach
Debbie Williams
Bill Williams
Bill Wilmot
Alvyda Winder
Melinda Winzer
Nancy Winter
Sue Todd Yates
Florence Zabalero

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers would deeply appreciate your gift of support. Contributions may be sent to: BS/SCS, 2115 N. 42nd, Seattle, WA 98103, (206) 547-0427.

ATTENTION MUSIC LOVERS

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers needs your expert assistance. We need volunteers to help out in a variety of ways—from answering telephones in our office to preparing bulk mailings to ushering at concerts—the list is endless! If you are interested in donating your time and talent to become a member of our volunteer family, please call the office at 547-0427 and our volunteer coordinator, Maureen Eggertsen, will contact you.

THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY/SEATTLE CHAMBER SINGERS

George Shangrow, conductor
Sara Hedgforth, business manager
2115 North 42nd
Seattle, WA 98103
(206) 547-0427

STAGE MANAGER
Ron Haight

THE BROADWAY
SYMPHONY
The collaboration of the BROADWAY SYMPHONY and the SEATTLE CHAMBER SINGERS has become a respected musical force in the Pacific Northwest. This company of volunteer artists is dedicated to the presentation of exciting and polished musical performances. Each ensemble rehearse at University Unitarian Church, where they enjoy the status of artists-in-residence, and where they further develop their repertoire under conductor George Shangrow. Membership is by audition, and general auditions for vacant positions are held every August and September. On several occasions each season, smaller ensembles are formed from the main ensembles for the performances of chamber music. Especially important to the Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers is the support and presentation of local performing artists and the work of local composers.

GEORGE SHANGROW, Music Director and Conductor of the Broadway Symphony and Seattle Chamber Singers, is a native of Seattle who founded the chorus (in 1968) and the orchestra (in 1978) in order to give Seattle artists and audiences a chance to hear and perform great works of music. In addition to acclaimed performances of the classical music repertoire for both chorus and orchestra, he has brought to Seattle world premiers of operas, choral works, and symphonies by Seattle’s most gifted local composers. Mr. Shangrow has toured Europe as a conductor and keyboard artist; appeared as a guest conductor with the Seattle Symphony, the Northwest Chamber Orchestra, and East Texas University Orchestra and lectures frequently for the Seattle Opera and Symphony. As Director of Music for University Unitarian Church, Mr. Shangrow is a leader in the performance of sacred music, and as the guiding producer of The Bach Year in Seattle (1985) he brought to our city the world’s most extensive celebration of the music of J. S. Bach.

The Young Chang is the official piano of the Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers. They are provided for us by Western Piano & Organ, Young Chang’s largest representative in the United States.

ROBERT KECHLEY has become one of Seattle’s best liked and most frequently heard home-town composers. His works have been commissioned and performed by the Broadway Symphony, the Seattle Chamber Singers, the Northwest Chamber Orchestra, the Northwest Boychoir and University and Eastshore Unitarian Churches. Robert Kechley is a native of Seattle and began composing at the age of fourteen. He is a graduate of the University of Washington, where he studied with Ken Benashof, Robert Soderberg, William O. Smith and others. Presently, he teaches music privately and is a composer-in-residence at University Unitarian Church.
VIOLIN
Anna Bezzo-Clark
Jeffrey Forbes
Debbie Kirkland
Fritz Klein, concertmaster
Dianne Langer
Jeanne Le Norman
Eileen Lusk
Sally Macklin
Avron Maltesky
Jeanne Nadreau
Leif-Ivar Pedersen, principal
Phyllis Rowe, second
Sondra Schink
Erich Schweiger
Kenna Smith
Gayle Strandberg

VIOLA
Beatrice Dolf
Katharine McWilliams
Cathryn Paterson
Timothy Prior
Stephanie Read
Robert Shankrow
Katrina Sharples
Sara Williams, principal

CELLO
Gary Anderson
Rosemary Berner
Matt Birkeland
Colleen Loewen
Norman Meyers
Joan Saltz
Maryann Tapiro, principal
Julie Reed Wheeler

BASS
David Couch, principal
Alan Goldman
Josephine Hansen
Anna Pal
Jay Wilson

FLUTE/PICCOLO
Claudia Cooper
Laura Hams
Janeen Shigley, principal

OBRE
Huntley Beyer
N. Shannon Hill

ENGLISH HORN
Susan Lacey

CLARINET
Adi Askhaoz
Kathleen Boone
Gary Oules, principal
Marko Velikonja
Jerome Vinikow

BASS CLARINET
Jerome Vinikow

SOPRANO SAXOPHONE
Gary Oules

ALTO SAXOPHONE
Ron Haight
Tanya Syrstad

BASSOON
Daniel Hershman
Michel Jolivet, contra
William Schink, principal

HORN
Laurie Heidt
Bill Hunnicutt
Cynthia Jefferson, principal
Beverly Southwell

TRUMPET
Matt Dalton, principal
Gary Flandes
Barbara Hudak
John McLandress

TROMBONE
William Branvold
Jim Christensen, bass
William Irving, bass
Michael Perkins

EUPHONIUM
William Irving

Tuba
David Brewer

PERCUSSION
Daniel Oie, principal
Beverly Reese
Stan Ryan

HARP
Naomi Kato

THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY
George Shangrow, conductor

In Concert

Sunday, May 15, 1988
Kane Hall
Gustav Holst

Suite for Military Band in F Major
March
Song without words "I'll love my Love"
Song of the Blacksmith
Fantasia on the "Dargason"

Symphony #36, C Major "Linz"
Adagio; Allegro spiritoso
Poco adagio
Minuetto
Presto

INTERMISSION

Symphony No. 2
Allegro con fiereza
Reminiscence
Ferdinand the Bull
-The young bulls
-Ferdinand likes to smell the flowers
-His mother, a cow
-Five men in very funny hats
-The other bulls show off
-Ferdinand sits on a bumblebee
-They take Ferdinand into town
-Lovely ladies with flowers in their hair
-Parade into the bullring
-The Bandirilleros
-The Picadores
-The Matador
-Ferdinand enters the bullring
-They take Ferdinand home
Celebration

This concert is sponsored in part by the Seattle Arts Commission
Gustav Holst – Second Suite for Military Band in F Major

Ralph Vaughan Williams has written of Gustav Holst:

"The subject of English folk song is a thorny one and has been much misunderstood. It would be out of place to discuss it at length here; but this much may be said, that, to those who have understanding, the folk song is a liberating and not a fettering influence. The contact with new types of melody bound by purely melodic considerations, with rhythms not tied by the conventions of bars and time signatures, the expressiveness of short and simple tunes— all this cannot fail to suggest to anyone who is naturally sympathetic new vistas of musical thought which may, indeed, have nothing to do superficially with the curves and cadences of folk song, but are suggested by its spirit if not by its letter. Holst's first introduction to his traditional melodies was a collection of songs from Hampshire which he hamronized at the request of the late Dr. Gardiner.

Possibly best known for his seven-movement symphonic suite, "The Planets", Gustav Holst was a man of learning and many interests. He found inspiration for his music in the vast realm of nature and history. He studied and mastered the language and background of hymns in Sanskrit. He was inspired by the rich resources of folk poetry and music. And, as he looked to the skies, he found inspiration in looking for meaning in the stars.

Combined with his lofty researching in matters mystical and cosmic, Holst cultivated a passion for folk music, especially that of the British Isles. In 1905, he became the headmaster of the music department at St. Paul's School for Girls in London. While in this position, he wrote one of the first compositions which provided him with some recognition, a suite of folk songs called, appropriately, "St. Paul's Suite", a work which would be a source of material for the work you are hearing this evening.

Holst has contributed three major works to the repertoire of the modern wind band. "Hammersmith" is a tone poem about one of his favorite areas of London, but it is his two suites for military band which lovers of wind music know and recognize as significant additions to the literature specifically written for the wind band.

The "First Suite in E-flat for Military Band" is probably the better known and more frequently performed of the two, but the "Second Suite in F major" is equally interesting. While the "First Suite" relies on the treatment of a single melodic idea to build into three movements, the "Second Suite" is a setting of British folk songs.

The suite is composed in four movements. The first, Allegro is a March. The second, Andante, Song without words, is a setting of "I'll love my Love." The third movement, Moderato e maestoso, "Song of the Blacksmith" is probably the most recognized music from the suite. It served as the theme music to the ABC Television program "Issues and Answers". The final movement, Allegro moderato, Fantasia on the "Dargason" is a

Musical part preparation for the Kechley Symphony by:

Lawrence B. Brazitis, movements 1-3
Anna Pal, movement 4
clever combination of the folksong the "Dargason" with "Greensleeves." This blending of musical materials had worked so well for Holst in the "St. Paul's Suite" that he utilized it again in the enjoyable conclusion to the "Second Suite in F major".

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart - Symphony No. 36 in C Major, K. 425 "Linz"

Symphony No. 36 was written in a hurry. In October of 1783 Mozart was on his way back to Salzburg from Vienna. He stopped in Linz to visit Count Thun. While there he was asked to conduct an "academy", perhaps the equivalent to our modern day music clinic, which would include a performance of his works. Mozart wrote to his father that he would hold the academy on November 4 and that he didn't have a single symphony with him. The tone of his letter almost implies that he forgot to pack a symphony away in his luggage when he left on the trip. The solution, write a new symphony for the occasion.

What resulted was Mozart's 36th symphony, subtitled "Linz" because of the city of its origin. It is a work in C Major which is not as well known as the famous final three, but nevertheless, a worthy contribution to the symphonic repertoire. It has been stylistically to Haydn, but that link is probably superficial at best, possibly grounded in the use of the slow introduction to the first movement which characterized many of Haydn's symphonies.

The work is in four movements and is almost a textbook model of the Classical symphony. The movements are 1) Adagio; Allegro spiritoso, 2) Poco Adagio, 3) Menuetto e Trio, and 4) Finale Presto. By symphonic standards it is a relatively short symphony. However, it is extremely concentrated in its expressive power. This quality prompted Sir Donald Tovey to write:

"It is a fundamental error in criticism to regard the shortness of Mozart's developments as a defect. They carry enormous weight in this architecture."

The "Linz", like most of the lesser Mozart symphonies represents a special world of enchantment. It provides a continual source of joy for its vivaciousness and freshness, beauty of melody, perfect proportion and balance, and tasteful treatment of the materials. It is a distinguished example of Mozart's art.

One of the very unique features of this particular symphony is its chameleon like nature. In the hands of one conductor it has the capacity for expressing ideals of the grandest and noblest import. Another conductor who may be equally as gifted and creative as the first can bring from it the expression of lightness, so mannered as to be described in the style of the galant. We leave it to your imagination to evaluate tonight's interpretation.

--notes by Gary Fladmoe
Using the traditional sonata allegro form, the first movement displays the passion found in two contrasting folk traditions of Europe. The exposition frames a pair of themes derived from these elemental styles.

The A theme (introduced by the violins) captures the fire and impatience in the Slavic music of Eastern Europe. The B theme, in two parts, draws on the proud spirit and bravura of Andalusian folk music. The first part, played by the trumpets, utilizes the singing style of the Spanish gypsy, while the second part evokes the power and expressiveness of flamenco dancing.

Using fugal and other musical devices, the development section affords an opportunity to combine these two themes, as in the tango section, where the accompaniment pattern is a fragment of the B theme (flamenco) while the A theme (Slavic) becomes a very slow melody played by the solo violin. Having developed the material beyond its original confines, we hear the recapitulation of the exposition with a new perspective.

Every day we are faced with opportunities for self-reflection. An ordinary experience can trigger a vivid memory that finds one intensely in the present because of the past.

While observing the sunlight filtering through the trees I have found myself unable to break my focus as simple childhood memories seem like revelations. The music in the second movement provides a variety of subtle mood shifts or transitions, like the revelations that come from that intense focus on past memories. The purpose of the music is to involve the listener in its intricacies as well as providing an opportunity to pause for self-reflection - to carry the listener gently through an intimate reminiscence.

My vision of the young bulls is that of playfulness, but also of testing their abilities in mock aggression and suffering the consequences. Ferdinand, played by the tuba, is apart from all this. His mother, represented by the euphonium, is concerned that he is different. Her music recalls that of the other young bulls. Ferdinand joins in to reassure her in a touching duet. Ferdinand and the other bulls grow up continuing their separate philosophies. One day, five men in very funny hats come looking for bulls to fight in the ring in Madrid. I’ve treated these characters like a kind of Spanish Keystone Cops. The other bulls show their stuff with the usual results as the music evokes a rushing freight train followed by a slow reeling waltz. Meanwhile Ferdinand, unconcerned, goes to sit under his favorite cork tree and smell the flowers. Unfortunately, he doesn’t watch where he is sitting and suffers the abuse of a bumblebee who has his own ideas about territoriality. Ferdinand jumps athletically about and the five men in very funny hats are elated to find the perfect fighting bull and take him to Madrid. The town is full of excitement. Ferdinand takes note of the lovely ladies with flowers in their hair. A farandole starts the bulring into the bullring. There follows a set of three marches: The Banderillos (played by saxophones) are low men on the totem pole.

They are disgruntled and quarrelsome as they keep tripping each other or sticking each other with pins. Then come the smug and self-satisfied Picadores, who have more job security and sit on their skinny horses. Finally comes the narcissistic Matador. Here the trombones portray a man who becomes so involved with bowing to the crowd that long silences must be put in the music to accommodate him. At the end of the parade, the mighty-looking Ferdinand enters the bullring with a flourish, causing much fear and trepidation. But upon seeing the lovely ladies in the stands and smelling the flowers in their hair, he sits down. The men try to taunt him, but to no avail. So they take Ferdinand home and there he sits today, smelling the flowers under his favorite cork tree.

The Story of Ferdinand by Munro Leaf, with illustrations by Robert Lawson, is a book from my childhood which seemed the perfect choice for a programmatic scherzo. Not only does it have humor, drama and obvious opportunities for musically vivid images, but it also retains the Spanish character of the first movement and affirms a beautiful message of nonviolence. The story begins with the young bulls...
Using the traditional sonata allegro form, the first movement displays the passion found in two contrasting folk traditions of Europe. The exposition frames a pair of themes derived from these elemental styles.

The A theme (introduced by the violins) captures the fire and impatience in the Slavic music of Eastern Europe. The B theme, in two parts, draws on the proud spirit and bravura of Andalusian folk music. The first part, played by the trumpets, utilizes the singing style of the Spanish gypsy, while the second part evokes the power and expressiveness of flamenco dancing.

Using fugal and other musical devices, the development section affords an opportunity to combine these two themes, as in the tango section, where the accompaniment pattern is a fragment of the B theme (flamenco) while the A theme (Slavic) becomes a very slow melody played by the solo violin. Having developed the material beyond its original confines, we hear the recapitulation of the exposition with a new perspective.

Every day we are faced with opportunities for self-reflection. An ordinary experience can trigger a vivid memory that finds one intensely present because of the past.

While observing the sunlight filtering through the trees I have found myself unable to break my focus as simple childhood memories seem like revelations. The music in the second movement provides a variety of subtle mood shifts or transitions, like the revelations that come from that intense focus on past memories. The purpose of the music is to involve the listener in its intricacies as well as providing an opportunity to pause for self-reflection - to carry the listener gently through an intimate reminiscence.

The Story of Ferdinand by Munro Leaf, with illustrations by Robert Lawson, is a book from my childhood which seemed the perfect choice for a programmatic scherzo. Not only does it have humor, drama and obvious opportunities for musically vivid images, but it also retains the Spanish character of the first movement and affirms a beautiful message of nonviolence. The story begins with the young bulls...

My vision of the young bulls is that of playfulness, but also of testing their abilities in mock aggression and suffering the consequences. Ferdinand, played by the tuba, is apart from all this. His mother, represented by the euphonium, is concerned that he is different. Her music recalls that of the other young bulls. Ferdinand joins in to reassure her in a touching duet. Ferdinand and the other bulls grow up continuing their separate philosophies. One day, five men in very funny hats come looking for bulls to fight in the ring in Madrid. I've treated these characters like a kind of Spanish Keystone Cops. The other bulls show their stuff with the usual results as the music evokes a rushing freight train followed by a slow reeling waltz. Meanwhile Ferdinand, unconcerned, goes to sit under a favorite cork tree and smell the flowers. Unfortunately, he doesn't watch where he is sitting and suffers the abuse of a bumblebee who has his own ideas about territoriality. Ferdinand jumps athletically about and the five men in very funny hats are elated to find the perfect fighting bull and take him to Madrid. The town is full of excitement. Ferdinand takes note of the lovely ladies with flowers in their hair. A fanfare starts the parade into the bullring. There follows a set of three marches: The Banderillos (played by saxophones) are low men on the totem pole.

They are disgruntled and quarrelsome as they keep tripping each other or sticking each other with pins. Then come the smug and self-satisfied Picadores, who have more job security and sit on their skinny horses. Finally comes the narcissistic Matador. Here the trombones portray a man who becomes so involved with bowing to the crowd that long silences must be put in the music to accommodate him. At the end of the parade, the mighty-looking Ferdinand enters the bullring with a flourish, causing much fear and trepidation. But upon seeing the lovely ladies in the stands and smelling the flowers in their hair, he sits down. The men try to taunt him, but to no avail. So they take Ferdinand home and there he sits today, smelling the flowers under his favorite cork tree.
clever combination of the folksong the "Dargason" with "Greensleeves." This blending of musical materials had worked so well for Holst in the "St. Paul's Suite" that he utilized it again in the enjoyable conclusion to the "Second Suite in F major."

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart – Symphony No. 36 in C Major, K. 425 "Linz"

Symphony No. 36 was written in a hurry. In October of 1783 Mozart was on his way back to Salzburg from Vienna. He stopped in Linz to visit Count Thun. While there he was asked to conduct an "academy", perhaps the equivalent to our modern day music clinic, which would include a performance of his works. Mozart wrote to his father that he would hold the academy on November 4 and that he didn't have a single symphony with him. The tone of his letter almost implies that he forgot to pack a symphony away in his luggage when he left for the trip. The solution, write a new symphony for the occasion.

What resulted was Mozart's 36th symphony, subtitled "Linz" because of the city of its origin. It is a work in C Major which is not as well known as the famous final three, but nevertheless, a worthy contribution to the symphonic repertoire. It has been stylistically to Haydn, but that link is probably superficial at best, possibly grounded in the use of the slow introduction to the first movement which characterized many of Haydn's symphonies.

The work is in four movements and is almost a textbook model of the Classical symphony. The movements are 1) Adagio; Allegro spiritoso, 2) Poco Adagio, 3) Menuetto e Trio, and 4) Finale Presto. By symphonic standards it is a relatively short symphony. However, it is extremely concentrated in its expressive power. This quality prompted Sir Donald Tovey to write:

"It is a fundamental error in criticism to regard the shortness of Mozart's developments as a defect. They carry enormous weight in this architecture."

The "Linz", like most of the lesser Mozart symphonies represents a special world of enchantment. It provides a continual source of joy for its vivaciousness and freshness, beauty of melody, perfect proportion and balance, and tasteful treatment of the materials. It is a distinguished example of Mozart's art.

One of the very unique features of this particular symphony is its chameleon like nature. In the hands of one conductor it has the capacity for expressing ideas of the grandest and noblest import. Another conductor who may be equally as gifted and creative as the first can bring from it the expression of lightness, so mannered as to be described in the style of the galant. We leave it to your imagination to evaluate tonight's interpretation.

—notes by Gary Fladmoe
Gustav Holst – Second Suite for Military Band in F Major

Ralph Vaughan Williams has written of Gustav Holst:

"The subject of English folk song is a thorny one and has been much misunderstood. It would be out of place to discuss it at length here; but this much may be said, that, to those who have understanding, the folk song is a liberating and not a fettering influence. The contact with new types of melody bound by purely melodic considerations, with rhythms not tied by the conveniences of bars and time signatures, the expressiveness of short and simple tunes—all this cannot fail to suggest to anyone who is naturally sympathetic new vistas of musical thought which may, indeed, have nothing to do superficially with the curves and cadences of folk song, but are suggested by its spirit if not by its letter. Holst's first introduction to his traditional melodies was a collection of songs from Hampshire which he harnessed at the request of the late Dr. Gardiner.

Possibly best known for his seven-movement symphonic suite, "The Planets", Gustav Holst was a man of learning and many interests. He found inspiration for his music in the vast realm of nature and history. He studied and mastered the language and background of hymns in Sanskrit. He was inspired by the rich resources of folk poetry and music. And, as he looked to the skies, he found inspiration in looking for meaning in the stars.

Combined with his lofty researching in matters mystical and cosmic, Holst cultivated a passion for folk music, especially that of the British Isles. In 1905, he became the headmaster of the music department at St. Paul's School for Girls in London. While in this position, he wrote one of the first compositions which provided him with some recognition, a suite of folk songs called, appropriately, "St. Paul's Suite", a work which would be a source of material for the work you are hearing this evening.

Holst has contributed three major works to the repertoire of the modern wind band. "Hammersmith" is a tone poem about one of his favorite areas of London, but it is his two suites for military band which lovers of band music know and recognize as significant additions to the literature specifically written for the wind band.

The "First Suite in E-flat for Military Band" is probably the better known and more frequently performed of the two, but the "Second Suite in F major" is equally interesting. While the "First Suite" relies on the treatment of a single melodic idea to build into three movements, the "Second Suite" is a setting of British folk songs.

The suite is composed in four movements. The first, Allegro is a March. The second, Andante, Song without words, is a setting of "I'll love my Love." The third movement, Moderato e maestoso, "Song of the Blacksmith" is probably the most recognized music from the suite. It served as the theme music to the ABC Television program "Issues and Answers". The final movement, Allegro moderato, Fantasia on the "Dargason" is a

Musical part preparation for the Kechley symphony by:

Lawrence B. Brazitis, movements 1–3
Anna Pal, movement 4
THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY
George Shangrow, conductor

VIOLIN
Anna Bezzo-Clark
Jeffrey Forbes
Debbie Kirkland
Fritz Klein, concertmaster
Dianne Lange
Jeanne Le Norman
Eileen Lusk
Sally Macklin
Avron Maletsky
Jeanne Nadreau
Leif-Ivar Pedersen, principal
Phyllis Rowe, second
Sondra Schink
Erich Schweiger
Kenna Smith
Gayle Strandberg

VIOLA
Beatrice Doll
Katharine McWilliams
Cathryn Paterson
Timothy Prior
Stephanie Read
Robert Shangrow
Katrina Sharples
Sara Williams, principal

CELLO
Gary Anderson
Rosemary Berner
Matt Birkeland
Colleen Loewen
Norm Meyers
Joan Selvig
Maryann Tapiro, principal
Julie Reed Wheeler

BASS
David Couch, principal
Alan Goldman
Josephine Hansen
Anna Pal
Jay Wilson

FLUTE/PIECOLO
Claudia Cooper
Laura Haarn
Janeen Shigley, principal

OBOE
Huntley Beyer
M. Shannon Hill

ENGLISH HORN
Susan Lacey

CLARINET
Adi Askazizi
Kathleen Boone
Gary Oules, principal
Marko Velikonja
Jerome Vinikov

BASS CLARINET
Jerome Vinikov

SOPRANO SAXOPHONE
Gary Oules

ALTO SAXOPHONE
Ron Haight
Tanya Syrstad

BASSOON
Daniel Hershman
Michel Jolivet, contra
William Schink, principal

HORN
Laurie Heidt
Bill Hunnicutt
Cynthia Jefferson, principal
Beverly Southwell

TRUMPET
Matt Dalton, principal
Gary Fladmo
Barbara Hudak
John McLandress

TROMBONE
William Branvold
Jim Christensen, bass
William Irving, bass
Michael Perkins

EUPHONIUM
William Irving

TROMBONE
David Brewer

PERCUSSION
Daniel Oie, principal
Beverly Reese
Stan Ryan

HARP
Naomi Kato

THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY
George Shangrow, conductor

In Concert

Sunday, May 15, 1988
Kane Hall

Suite for Military Band in F Major
Gustav Holst

March
Song without words "I'll love my Love"
Song of the Blacksmith
Fantasia on the "Dargason"

Symphony #36, C Major "Linz"
Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart

Adagio; Allegro spiritoso
Poco adagio
Minuetto
Presto

INTERMISSION

Symphony No. 2
Robert Kechley

Allegro con fiereza
Reminiscence
Ferdinand the Bull
-The young bulls
-Ferdinand likes to smell the flowers
-His mother, a cow
-Five men in very funny hats
-The other bulls show off
-Ferdinand sits on a bumblebee
-They take Ferdinand into town
-Lovely ladies with flowers in their hair
-Parade into the bullring
-The Banderilleros
-The Picadores
-The Matador
-Ferdinand enters the bullring
-They take Ferdinand home
Celebration

This concert is sponsored in part by the Seattle Arts Commission
The collaboration of the BROADWAY SYMPHONY and the SEATTLE CHAMBER SINGS has become a respected musical force in the Pacific Northwest. This company of volunteer artists is dedicated to the presentation of exciting and polished musical performances. Each ensemble rehearses at University Unitarian Church, where they enjoy the status of artists-in-residence, and where they further develop their repertoire under conductor George Shangrow. Membership is by audition, and general auditions for vacant positions are held every August and September. On several occasions each season, smaller ensembles are formed from the main ensembles for the performances of chamber music. Especially important to the Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers is the support and presentation of local performing artists and the work of local composers.

GEORGE SHANGROW, Music Director and Conductor of the Broadway Symphony and Seattle Chamber Singers, is a native of Seattle who founded the chorus (in 1968) and the orchestra (in 1978) in order to give Seattle artists and audiences a chance to hear and perform great works of music. In addition to acclaimed performances of the classic musical repertoire for both chorus and orchestra, he has brought to Seattle world premières of operas, choral works, and symphonies by Seattle’s most gifted local composers. Mr. Shangrow has toured Europe as a conductor and keyboard artist; appeared as a guest conductor with the Seattle Symphony, the Northwest Chamber Orchestra, and East Texas University Opera; and lectures frequently for the Seattle Opera and Symphony. As Director of Music for University Unitarian Church, Mr. Shangrow is a leader in the performance of sacred music, and as the guiding producer of The Bach Year in Seattle (1985) he brought to our city the world’s most extensive celebration of the music of J. S. Bach.

The Young Chang is the official piano of the Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers. They are provided for us by Western Piano & Organ, Young Chang’s largest representative in the United States.

ROBERT KECHLEY has become one of Seattle’s best liked and most frequently heard home-town composers. His works have been commissioned and performed by the Broadway Symphony, the Seattle Chamber Singers, the Northwest Chamber Orchestra, the Northwest Boychoir and University and Eastshore Unitarian Churches. Robert Kechley is a native of Seattle and began composing at the age of fourteen. He is a graduate of the University of Washington, where he studied with Ken Benashoff, Robert Suderberg, William O. Smith and others. Presently, he teaches music privately and is a composer-in-residence at University Unitarian Church.

Erich Schweiger Violins

International Award-winning Instruments
Complete Restorations - Sales - Repairs
- VERY REASONABLE PRICES -
11536 Roosevelt Way, N.E., Seattle, Wa. 98125
(206) 783-0436 (206) 365-6950
Please call for an appointment.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SUSTAINER (over $500)</th>
<th>FRIEND ($25-$49)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Boeing Company</td>
<td>Anonymously</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Richard Dyer</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SAFECO Insurance Co.</td>
<td>Anonymous</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phoenix Piano's Org.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BENEFACCTOR ($250-$499)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anonymous</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carol Blakely</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dr. Denis Bouvier</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alex &amp; Norma Cugini</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dean Drecher</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maurice Eggertson</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PATRON ($100-$299)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anonymous</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dr. Hugh Beebe</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kathryn &amp; Steven Bergenholtz</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rosemary Berner</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vladimir &amp; Marta Chaloupa</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lisa Cugini</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kathleen Dyer</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marilyn Evans</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mary House Evans</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robert E. Frey, Jr.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ross &amp; Cathy Hught</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Hattori</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jackie Hightower</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alan K. Jones</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rachel Kern</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fritz Klein</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bill Malmstrom</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martha Mathes</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brian McGee</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nancy &amp; William Mock</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bruce &amp; Gretchen Parker</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larry Scott</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kenneth M. Sieder</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SPONSOR ($50-$99)

Gary Anderson
Best Products Foundation
Vance M. Blackwell
Sylvia Cameron
Beatrice Duff
Ben Eggertson
P. E. Gladfelter
Michael James
Barbara Krohn
Eleanor Lask
Sue Margolis
Laura Meddil
Brian Milthorpe
Susann Miller
Marjorie Munday
Ray & Rita Nadreau
Edward Nesbitt
Rebecca Parker
Luedt Roadbom
Jerry & Carol Sans
George Shangrow
Rita Slesar
Tedi Slavov
Alex Ulrich & Associates
United Technologies Corp.
David & Rebekah Ulevski
Kay Vezun
Earl & Bernice Wheatley

ASSOCIATE (to $24.00)

Lynn Adams
Susan Agnew
Mary Frances Aldrich
Megan Alexander
Teressa Allen-Martin
Terry Anderson
Douglas Anderson, PS
San Antonio
Ade Avondo
Frank Ayers
Robb & Rachel Bacaon
Ced Bergquist
Bob Berens
Arthur & Dorothy Bestor
Anna Bezoz-Clark
Christina Bieksi
Cecilia Birkland
Carrie Blackwell
Matthew Blackwell
Susan Beeck
John Brudnute
Julia Bridford
Kaye Brunson
Anna Buck
J. S. Bunnel, Jr.
Alice Burgess
Stephen Burr
Helen Buttinger
David Caloff
Chuck Campbell
MaryAnn Cartmell
Louis Chapman
Shane Chaumley
John Chen
Dennis Nicklin
John Choate
Lisa Clarke
Sue Clinton
Scott Cochrane
Patricia Copeland
Dr. Richard Corley
John Cothran
Steve Crandall
Anthony Cresci
Josephine Cugini
Nancy Cuswa
Norma Dahl
Virginia Day
Dexter Day
John Dayton
Hoyt Demers
Kyla DeReren
Bomal Deveaux
Tess Dilba
Darryl Duke
Fred & Emma Easton
Susan Edmunds
Beth Faughnaugh
Dan Fiene
Duncan Foley
John Folkod
Doug Frank
Jean French
Dorothy Fahrman
Duane Farnish
Tim & Pamela Garby
Charlie & Josie Gardiner
William Guilds
Fran Glaab
The Rev. & Mrs. L. D. Gordon
D. Ian Grant
Carol Gun
Joan Haga
Jim Hammond
Craig Harper
Joy Hardword
Lani Hendrick
Gayle Henry
Marti Hobi
Kathleen Hoover
Linda Howard
Laurence Hurwitz
Bill Hummer
Beryl Ingrain-Ward
Paul Inkpen
Lisa Innes
Demi Johnson
David & Liz Ann Jones
Libby Kees
Larry Kees
OUR CONTRIBUTORS AND PATRONS

ASSOCIATE (to $24.00)

Chester Kingsbury
Fred & Olga Klein
Ken Krueger
Julia Lawrence
Martha Leche
Jamie Lecker
Denise Leclaire
Ruth Little
Debbie Livingston
Peggy Lockman
Nora MacDonald
Laura McDowell
Helen McEachern
Cheryl McIntosh
Margaret McLane
Connie McGuinn
Brady Mertz
Georg & Norma Meyers
Reverend Peter and Mary Moore
Maria Moroney
Dick Morrel
Allan & Elizabeth Moses
Marion Morrow
J. Rick Mutchie
Ellen Murray
Jeanne Nadreau
Barton Nesiuk
Maury O'Brien
Susan O'Brien
Rochelle Ophuls & Jackson
Betsey Page
Kathy Follas
Jocelyn Palmer
Katie Payne
Dee C. Ferguson
Richard Perrigo
Ayes Pickering
Robert Pope
Barbara Post
Elizabeth Rund
Art Pringle
Richard & Joan Reed
Miriam Reed
Dave & Sally Roberson
Phyllis Rosati
Michael Rosella
H. K. Rowe
Phyllis Rowe
Charlotte Salesak
Robert & Eleanore Sanders
Alex Sargent Photography
Kurt & Barb Schauerhann
Van Schlipperott
Singe Schipperott
Bob Schlipperott
Susan Schlipperott
Iva Schulz
Jan Schwartz
Susan Scott
John Sears
Juliette Simon
Reba Shangraw
Julie Simpson
Za Ann Sites
Janet Sittig
Howie Sloan
Eugene & Marcia Smith
Holly Smith
Daniel Snair
Linda Snair
Kaye Stafford
Elaine Stanovsky
John Stone
Ralph & Marilyn Stevens
Richard Strinsky
Diane Swank
Mary Ann Swenson
Amy Swingen
David Thompson
Sheri Turn
Patricia Walker
Tom Walker
Rosita Walsh
Mark & Inessa Webber
Jim & Pam Webber
Eric Weisberg
Kevin White
Irene White
John J. Wickman
Bill & Carol Wieseman
Dennis Williams
Bill Wimpee
Alvyd Winder
Mildred Windle
Nancy Windle
Sue Toad Yates
Sue Toad Yates
Florence Zaballero

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers would deeply appreciate your gift of support. Contributions may be sent to: BS/SCS, 2115 N. 42nd, Seattle, WA 98103, (206) 547-0427.

ATTENTION MUSIC LOVERS

The Broadway Symphony/Seattle Chamber Singers needs your expertise assistance. We need volunteers to help out in a variety of ways—from answering telephones in our office to preparing bulk mailings to ushering at concerts—the list is endless! If you are interested in donating your time and talent to become a member of our volunteer family, please call the office at 547-0427 and our volunteer coordinator, Maurine Eggersen, will contact you.

THE BROADWAY SYMPHONY/SEATTLE CHAMBER SINGERS
George Shangraw, conductor
Sara Hedgpeth, business manager
2115 North 42nd
Seattle, WA 98103
(206) 547-0427

STAGE MANAGER
Ron Haight