MAESTRO CIRCLE [$10,000 or more]
Nancy E. Dillworth
Barbara & Eugene Kidder
COMPOSER CIRCLE [$5,000-$9,999]
Jill D. Bailey
ArtsFund
Cultural Development Authority of King County
Liesl van Cleef
Bill & Dena Cumming CONCERTO CIRCLE [$2,500-$4,999]
The Boeing Company
Dr. Cathryn Booth LaForce
Lindsay Brown & David Zapsky
Dean Drugg
Terri Finchem Conner
Gerald & Betty Kecheley
Microsoft Foundation
Office of Arts & Cultural Affairs, City of Seattle
Osberg Family Trust
CADELLA CIRCLE [$1,000-$2,499]
Sharon & André Agnew
Sharon Agnew — in memory of Reba Shangrow
Boone & Gayle Barker
Roberta and Richard Bennett
Jane Blackwell
Ann Chiller — in memory of Reba Shangrow
Construction Dispute Resolution
Alex & Norma Cugini
Beatrice Dolt
Dinah Duffin-Martini
& Peter Martini
Douglas & Dana Durasoff
Fritz Klein
Dan Lee
H. J. Lucie, MD
Gregor & Kathy Nitsche
Gary Oakes
Peter & Eva Schmidt
Nancy Shasten
Janet Showalter
Aline Thompson
George Wallerstein & Julie Lutz
Anonymous (2)
VIVACE [$500-$999]
Boone & Gayle Barker
Paul Benningfield
Greg Canova & Barbara Linde
Susan Carpenter
& Hallock W. Beals
Ralph & Sue Cobb
Justin Cole
Michael & Lucy Copass
Davis Wright Tremaine LLP

PATRONS
Phillip E. Gladfelter
Michael Grummett
Sue Harring
Jessie & Joe Johnson
Sylvia Johnson
Ellen Kaisse & Gary Roberts
Jon Lange
Theodore Letz
& Paul Blinzler
Kimberly Osberg Lippman & Alan Lippman
Paddy McDonald
David Means
Kemi Nakabayashi
Tom Nesbitt & Penny Nichols
Northwest Hydronic Heating
Ivar & Tordis Pedersen
Gustaf & Claire Rauma
Hugh & Susan Reichenbach
Barbara Schaad-Lamphere & Theo Schaad
George Shangrow & Julie Reed
Richard & Nancy Taw
Julia Akouyo Thiel & Art Thiel
Patricia & David Vetterlein
Anonymous (3)
PRESTO [$250-$499]
Barbara & Thomas Anderson
Herbert & Phyllis Anderson
Randy Appel & Deborah Asais
Charles Brest
The Bullitt Foundation
Michael & Patricia Clarke
Cynthia M. Cole
Crisa Cugini
Dr. John Edwards
& Ruth Nordlander-Edwards
Nancy Ellison
Ann Erskine
Cinda France
Jo Hansen & Brenda Hogarth
Peter & Heather Garbes
Gay Griffee
Michael Grummett
David & Candace Holmes
Lorette & Wall Knowles
Jill & Arnold Koakmo
Pam & Ted Kummert
Peggy & David Kurtz
James & Elhi Larsen
Judith & Alan Lawrence
Gordon Lewis
Timothy Lunde
Mark Lutz
Pamela McPeak & Dr. Wm K. Halligan
Laurie Meddil & David Savage
Steven Messick
& Katie Sauter Messick

MOUSICA
Dennis & Jean Moore
Howard & Audrey Moulton
Royal & Barbara Moses
Andrew Murphy
Rebecca Parker — in memory of Reba Shangrow
Allen & Christine Rickett
Anne Roberts
Elizabeth & Kenneth Robertson
Eckart & Hildegard Schmidt
Chris Simson
Nedra Slaunton
A.R. & Jane Stevens
William F. Supper
Pieter & Tijske
van der Meulen
Doug & Ingrid Welte
Young Sook Yoon
Anonymous (3)
ALLEGRO [$100-$249]
Catherine Bailey
Andrew & Sally Bell
Linda Bell
Robin Boyer & Topper Jackson
David & Brewer
Peter Canion
Steve & Petra Carl
Judith Cohen
& Stephen Brady
Stephen & Margarete Cole
Carol & Clayton Cook
Helen S. Dahlgren
Russell M. & Penny Deputy
Kyla Dehmen
Ian & Peter Dolf
Richard & Judy Dolf
Daniel & Kathleen Dow
Diane Ellingson
David & Michelle Ferguson
Sue Ferguson
William Fitzhugh
Katie Frevert
David Freidt
Paul Frost
Craig & Deanna Fryhle
Joselina Garbes
Amy Gerard
Deborah Giles & Charles Sinnell
Donald & Rebecca Gurska
N. Michael & Maren Hansen
H. Daniel Hawkins
Nel & Clara Hloukova
René Ilumi & Thomas Roth
Robert Wood Johnson Fdn.
Suzanne Johnson
Robert Keckley
& Elizabeth Kennedy
Paul & Poulette Klüder
Olga Klein
Warren Koons
Francois J. Kwapi
Craig Kyle
Alice Leighton
Hubert Locke
Eileen & Rob Lusk
Julie & Jamie Lutz
Jeff & Kris Matson
Shawn Matthew
Barbara & Gerald McGaughin
Bruce McTavish
Linda Mendez
Mission Vet Clinic
Christine Moss
Shari Miller-Ho & Man Chung
Dr. Cynthia A. Mumpill & Dr. Joe Pfeffer
Gerald & Whitney Neufeld-Kaiser
Linda & Jerry Penos
Patrick & Lauren Pettersson
Dickson H. & Deirdre Preston
Stephan Provine
Katherine M. Reed
Richard & Joan Reed
Ruth & John Rugh
F. W. Scholz
Dr. Paul & Ellen Schreiber
Joan & David Selvig
Bonnie Sennklewich
Ellen Smith
Kenna Smith-Shangrow
John & Candace Stenness
Helen Stipich
Valerie Ann Taylor
William & Kathleen Trier
Reba & David Utesky
Jim & Cynthia van de Ezre
James Van Zee
Kathryn Wold
& Steven Tachell
Lorraine Weltzien
Rob Weltzien
Stephen Wilen
Woody & Helen Wilson
Jerry & Nancy Worsham
Barbara & Wilson Wyatt
Matthew Wyant
& Bonnie Light
Richard V. Wyckoff & Carol Lunde
Anonymous
IN MEMORIAM
Diane Anderson
Donal & Rebecca Gurska
N. Michael & Maren Hansen
H. Daniel Hawkins
Nel & Clara Hloukova
René Ilumi & Thomas Roth
Robert Wood Johnson Fdn.
Suzanne Johnson
Robert Keckley
& Elizabeth Kennedy
Paul & Poulette Klüder
Olga Klein
Warren Koons
Francois J. Kwapi
Craig Kyle

“HOPE” – WINTER BAROQUE

DINNER & CONCERTS

SUNDAY, JANUARY 16, 2005 — 3:00 PM TOWN HALL

ORCHESTRA SEATTLE

George Shangrow, conductor

HENRY PURCELL (1659-1695)

Triosonata in C Major, Z. 731
Sonata (Anteante) – Canzona (Allegro) – Largo – Allegro
Fritz Klein, Stephen Provine, violins — George Shangrow, harpsichord — Julie Reed, cello

GEORGE FRIDERIC HANDEL (1685-1759)

Concerto Grosso in d minor, Op. 6 No. 10

Overture — Allegro — Lamentement — Air (Lento) — Allegro — Allegro — Allegro moderato
Fritz Klein, Stephen Provine, violins, Matthew Wyatt, cello

FRANZ JOSEPH HAYDN (1732-1809)

Symphony No. 6 in D Major, "Le Matin" (Morning)

Adagio — Allegro
Adagio — Andante — Allegro
Menuet and Trio (Jeff Eldridge, bassoon, Katherine McWilliams, viola, Chris Simson, bass)
Finale: Allegro (Fritz Klein, violin)

— Intermisson —

Music for Youth — Partners in Education
Special Guest Student Performers - Aurora Borales String Quintet
Lisa Kim & Amanda Hu, violins; Anthony Parco, viola; Lavene Johanson, cello
Performing LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN (1770-1827)

String Quartet Opus 59, No. 2 “Razumovsky”: Allegro

BENJAMIN BRITTEN/GIOACHINO ROSSINI (1913-1976)

Soirées musicales, Opus 9
March – Canzona – Tarredo – Bolero – Tarantella

JOHANN SEBASTIAN BACH (1685-1750)

Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 in G, BWV 1049

Allegro
Andante
Presto

Stephen Provine, violin solo; Shari Muller-Ho & Melissa Underhill, flutes

Please disconnect signal watches, pagers and cellular telephones. Thank you.

Use of cameras and recording equipment is not permitted in the concert hall.

ORCHESTRA SEATTLE CHAMBER ORCHESTRA • SEATTLE, WASHINGTON • MUSIC DIRECTOR: John Fisher • 2004-2005 SEASON
NOTES on the COMPOSERS

George Frideric Handel
By the time of his death in London in 1759, George Frideric Handel, a German musician who had been trained in Italy, had become England’s "National Composer." This remarkable man had come to be both a musical master and a "personality" regarded with special awe and affection throughout the musical world, and so he remains to this day, although the list in this book for which he is famous is very short. It includes one complete oratorio, Messiah, a "funeral march" from another oratorio, Saul, a choral from a third oratorio, Judas Maccabaeus, an air from the opera, Serse, the Water Music, and the Fireworks Music.

He was born Georg Friederich Händel in Halle, Germany, on February 23, 1685. As a young musician who played harpsichord, organ, violin, and oboe, Handel traveled, studied, and composed in the cosmopolitan Italy of the early 1700’s, where he met with considerable success. In 1706, Handel journeyed to London, where he embarked upon a successful twenty-year career as a composer of operas in the Italian style (he produced some forty operas altogether), and became a naturalized British citizen.

By about 1730, however, the English public was beginning to tire of Italian-style opera. Sensing that his career as an opera composer might be in jeopardy, the astute Handel soon turned his attention to another form of dramatic music, oratorio, which he entertained equally suited to his talents: the oratorio, "an opera without action" which he sometimes called "musical drama." Handel and his audiences found that this musical form had numerous advantages over Italian opera: it had no expensive staging and no overpaid, egotistical, quarrelling Italian star sopranos. It did have well-known, exciting plots, taken mostly from mythology and from the Old Testament in the English Bible; texts in English, the language of the London audience; and sweeping, dramatic choruses. Thus, after about 1742, Handel found a "second career" as an oratorio composer. Indeed, he is renowned today chiefly as the master of the English oratorio, his works in this form becoming the standard by which, for decades, all other choral and religious music was evaluated.

Franz Joseph Haydn
"Often when dealing with obstacles of every sort that interfered with my work, often when my powers both of body and mind were failing and I felt it a hard matter to persevere on the course I had entered on, a secret feeling within me whispered, "There are things too difficult and happy men here below; grief and care prevail everywhere; perhaps your labors may one day be the source from which the weary and won, or the man burdened with affairs, may derive a few moments' rest and refreshment." What a powerful motive for pressing onward!"

So said Franz Joseph Haydn, the exact date of whose birth remains uncertain. The parish register of Rohrau, a small Austrian town about 31 miles southeast of Vienna near the Hungarian frontier, records the birth of Franz Joseph Haiden under the date April 1, 1732, but Haydn himself gave the date March 31 in a brief biographical sketch published in 1776. When asked about this discrepancy, he said he had been "erroneously" born in March 31. He preferred to claim that he was born on March 31 because he didn't want people to say that I came into the world as an April Fool." As a child, Joseph Haydn studied violin, harpsichord, and other musical instruments. The teacher, choirmaster of St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna, accepted Joseph as a choirboy, and, soon after his eighth birthday, the boy arrived in the capital of the Austrian Empire, where he was to remain for more than 20 years. After his days as a choirboy were over, Haydn managed to earn a meager living by singing tenor in the cathedral choir, doing some teaching, and playing the violin for religious services, parties, or private evening concerts. On May 13, 1761, Haydn became an employee of Prince Esterházy, a string player and a great musician. The Prince, however, died within a year of Haydn's engagement as assistant music director, and his middle-aged single child, Prince Nikolaus, succeeded him. The Prince made constant demands on the skill of the composer, and Haydn produced a steady stream of new works: symphonies, string quartets, trios, concertos, and many other "for personal performances" for the prince and his household. When the Prince's old Kapellmeister died in 1766, Haydn found himself in sole charge of the Prince's musical establishment, and the fame of the music at Esterházy soon spread throughout Europe. Haydn spent nearly 30 years in the musical service of Prince Nikolaus. "My Prince was always satisfied with my works," Haydn wrote. "I not only had the encouragement of his constant approval, but as conductor of the orchestra, I could experiment, see what produced a good effect, and what spoiled it, and I was thus able to improve, alter, add or cut as boldly as I pleased. I was completely isolated from the world, there was no one to bother me, and I was forced to become original.

In 1790, Nicholas died and his successor, Anton, greatly curtailed the court's musical activities. Haydn was therefore able to move to Vienna, and later in the year he traveled to London, the center of Europe's musical life. Here he remained for eighteen months, enjoying tremendous popular success and receiving an honorary degree from Oxford.

Haydn wrote very little during the last six years of his life as his health slowly deteriorated. The stream of honors from royalty flowed over him unabated, however: in 1804, the year he finally resigned his official post as the Esterházy's Kapellmeister, he was granted the freedom of the city of Vienna. His last public appearance took place on March 27, 1808, at a performance of The Creation given in honor of his 76th birthday. In May 1809, when Napoleon's troops occupied Vienna, the conqueror had a guard of honor placed outside Haydn's door. This venerable and extremely prolific composer died on May 31, his final words being: "Children be comforted. I am well."

Benjamin Britten
The son of a dentist and an amateur singer and the youngest of four children, Edward Benjamin Britten was born on the feast day of St. Cecilia, the patron saint of music, in 1913. He studied piano and then violin, and began a life of continuing musical composition at the age of five. When he was six, he wrote a play called "The Royal Folly" [sic] about Prince John, the fifth son of George V, who died in 1919 at the age of 13. The boy would compose before breakfast and then go to school, where he enjoyed mathematics and captained the cricket team. In his teens he became a private pupil of composer Frank Bridge, who provided the young Britten with a solid technical foundation which he used to construct highly creative compositions. Britten entered the Royal College of Music in London at the age of 17, studying piano and composition and taking several prizes for his works. At 20, he completed the significant choral work, "A Boy Was Born," at a rehearsal for a broadcast performance of which he met tenor Peter Pears, with whom he developed a lifelong personal and professional relationship.

Between 1933 and the beginning of World War II, Britten wrote music for the films produced by the General Office Film Unit, for the General Office Film Unit, for the General Office Film Unit, for the General Office Film Unit, for the General Office Film Unit. Overcoming television's peculiar challenges supplied him with the tools he needed for the composition of some 15 operas over the course of his career.

Because they were conscientious objects, Britten and Pears sailed for North America in the spring of 1939. Upon returning to England in 1942, Britten faced a conscientious objectors' tribunal and was exempted from military service. During the early 1940s, he produced a number of important works, including the Hymn to St. Cecilia, A Ceremony of Carols, Seven Sonnets of Michelangelo, Serenade (for tenor, horn, and strings), Rejoice in the Lamb, and the Festival Te Deum. The outstanding opera, Peter Grimes, was completed in 1945. Britten continued to compose music for Covent Garden, the Aldeburgh Festival, founded by him and Pears in 1948. Britten received many awards and honors over the next 28 years, being appointed a Companion of Honour in 1952, and being awarded a life peerage in 1976, the year he died, the first musician to be so honored. Despite his many accolades, Britten remained modest: "People sometimes seem to think that, with a number of works now behind, one must be bursting with confidence," he observed. "It is not so at all. I haven't achieved the simplicity I should like in my music, and I am enormously aware that I haven't yet come up to the technical standards Bridge set me."

Johann Sebastian Bach
Johann Sebastian Bach was born in 1685 in Eisenach, Germany, into a family that had produced church and town-band musicians for over 500 years. Oppressed at an early age, he was raised by an older brother who was an organist, and who taught young Sebastian the music. The boy was endlessly curious about every aspect of the art: "I had to work hard," he said; "Anyone who works as hard will get just as far as me."

Bach began his professional career at 16, when he was appointed organist at a church in Arnstadt. At 23, he became court organist and chamber musician to the Duke of Weimar. During his nine years in this post (1708-1717), he gained fame as an organ virtuoso and composer. From 1717 to 1723, Bach served as Kapellmeister to Marguerite, producing suites, concertos, sonatas for various instruments, a great amount of keyboard music, and the six Brandenburg Concertos, the fourth of which you are about to enjoy. Maria Barbara, Bach's wife and the mother of his seven children, died in 1720, and the composer soon married Anna Magdalena, a young singer who proved to be a loyal and understanding wife, and who provided her mate with thirteen more children.

When he was 38, Bach took the position of Cantor of St. Thomas’s in Leipzig, one of the most important music posts in Germany. He taught theory at the school which trained the choristers of the city's chief churches (he had to teach non-musical subjects as well); he also served as music director, composer, choirmaster, and organist of St. Thomas' Church. In this post he occupied the cares of his large family and circle of friends, the tasks of a very busy professional life, and ongoing struggles with the officials of town, school, and church who never recognized that they were dealing with perhaps the greatest musical genius ever born. Though the composer described himself as living "amongst continual vexation, envy, and persecution..." he remained in Leipzig for 27 years. At last, his eyesight failed, and he suffered a stroke followed by a raging fever. He died July 28, 1750, leaving only one very modest material estate, but bequeathing us a wondrous wealth of musical treasures.
George Frideric Handel

By the time of his death in London in 1759, George Frideric Handel, a German musician who had been trained in Italy, had become England's "national composer." This remarkable man had come to be both a musical master and a "personality" regarded with special awe and affection throughout the musical world, and so he remains to this day, although the list of composers for which he is famous is very short. It includes one complete oratorio, Messiah, "a Funeral march" from another oratorio, Saul, a choral from a third oratorio, Josèp Macabeesueu, an air from the opera, Serse, the Water Music, and the Fireworks Music.

He was born Georg Friedrich Händel in Halle, Germany, on February 23, 1685. As a young musician who played harpsichord, organ, violin, and oboe, Handel traveled, studied, and composed in the very cosmopolitan Italy of the early 1700s, where he met with considerable success. In 1720, Handel journeyed to London, where he embarked upon a successful twenty-year career as a composer of operas in the Italian style (he produced some forty operas altogether), and became a naturalized British citizen.

By about 1730, however, the English public was beginning to tire of Italian-style opera. Sensing that his career as an opera composer might be in jeopardy, the astute Handel soon founded another form of dramatic music: the oratorio, entertainment equally suited to his talents: the oratorio, "an opera without action" which he sometimes called "musical drama." Handel and his audiences found that this musical form had numerous advantages over Italian opera: it had no expensive staging and no overpaid, egotistical, quarreling Italian star sopranos. It did have well-known, exciting plots, taken mostly from mythology and from the Old Testament in the English Bible; texts in English, the language of the London audience; and sweeping, dramatic choruses. Thus, about 1742, Handel found a "second career" as an oratorio composer. Indeed, he is renowned today chiefly as the master of the English oratorio, his works in this form becoming the standard by which, for decades, all other choral and religious music was evaluated.

Franz Joseph Haydn

So said Franz Joseph Haydn, the exact date of whose birth remains uncertain. The parish register of Rohrau, a small Austrian town about 31 miles southeast of Vienna near the Hungarian frontier, records the birth of his frame. The Josephus Halden on the date April 1, 1732, but Haydn himself gave the date March 31 in a brief biographical sketch published in 1776. When asked about the discrepancy, he said, "I do not know what I am to be answer of to claim that I was born on March 31 because I didn't want people to say that I came into the world as an April fool." As a child, Joseph Haydn studied violin, harpsichord, and other musical instruments. The treurer, choirmaster of St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna, accepted Joseph as a chorboy, and, soon after his eighth birthday, the boy arrived in the capital of the Austrian Empire, where he was to remain for more than 20 years.

After his days as a chorboy were over, Haydn managed to earn a meager living by singing tenor in the cathedral choir, doing some teaching, and playing the violin for religious services, parties, or private evening concerts. On May 1, 1761, Haydn became an employee of Prince Esterhazy, a string player and a great musician. The Prince, however, died within a year of Haydn's engagement as assistant music director, and his middle-aged wife died in 1765. Thus, another "environmental" force worked to shape Haydn's life. The Prince made constant demands on the skill of the composer, and Haydn produced a steady stream of new works: symphonies, string quartets, trios, concertos, and many other "for personal pleasure" for the use of the household. When the Prince's old Kapellmeister died in 1766, Haydn found himself in sole charge of the Prince's musical establishment, and the fame of the music at Esterhazy soon spread throughout Europe.

Haydn spent nearly 30 years in the musical service of Prince Nicholas. "My Prince was always satisfied with my works," Haydn wrote. "I not only had the encouragement of his constant approval, but as conductor of the orchestra, I could experiment, see what produced a good effect, and what spoilt it, and I was thus able to improve, alter, or add or cut as boldly as I pleased. I was completely isolated from the world, there was no one to bother me, and I was forced to become original."

In 1790, Nicholas died and his successor, Anton, greatly curtailed the court's musical activities. Haydn was therefore able to move to Vienna, and later in the year he traveled to London, the center of Europe's musical life. Here he remained for eighteen months, enjoying tremendous popular success and receiving an honorary degree from Oxford.

Haydn wrote very little during the last six years of his life as his health slowly deteriorated. The stream of honors from royalty flowed over him unabated; however, in 1804, Haydn finally resigned his official post as the Esterházy Kapellmeister. He was granted the freedom of the city of Vienna. His last public appearance took place on March 27, 1808, at a performance of The Creation given in honor of his 76th birthday. In May 1809, when Napoleon's troops occupied Vienna, the conqueror had a guard of honor placed outside Haydn's door. The venerable and extremely prolific composer died on May 31, his final words being: "Children be comforted. I am well."

Benjamin Britten

The son of a dentist and an amateur singer and the youngest of four children, Edward Benjamin Britten was born on the feast day of St. Cecilia, the patron saint of music, in 1913. He studied piano and then violin, and began a life of continuing musical composition at the age of five. When he was six, he wrote a play called "The Royal Folly" for about John, the fifth son of George V, who died in 1919 at the age of 13. The boy would compose before breakfast and then go to school, where he enjoyed mathematics and captained the cricket team. In his teens he became a private pupil of composer Frank Bridge, who provided the young Britten with a solid technical foundation and which he would later highly creative compositions. Britten entered the Royal College of Music in London at the age of 17, studying piano and composition and taking several prizes for his works. At 20, he completed the significant choral work, "A Boy Was Born," at a rehearsal for a broadcast performance of which he met tenor Peter Pears, with whom he developed a life-long personal and professional relationship.

Between 1937 the beginning of World War II, Britten wrote music for several films produced by the General Office Film Unit, for BBC Radio, and for London's small theaters. Overcoming television's peculiar challenges supplied him with the tools he needed for the composition of some of 15 operas over the course of his career.

Because they were conscientious objectors, Britten and Pears sailed for North America in the spring of 1939. Upon returning to England in 1942, Britten faced a conscientious objectors' tribunal and was exempted from military service. During the early 1940s, he produced a number of important works, including the Hymn to St. Cecilia, A Ceremony of Carols, Seven Sonnets of Michelangelo, Serenade (for tenor, horn, and strings), Rejoice in the Lamb, and The Festival Te Deum. The outstanding opera, Peter Grimes, was completed in 1945. Britten continued to compose for Covent Garden for the Aldeburgh Festival, founded by him and Pears in 1948. Britten received many awards and honors over the next 28 years, being appointed a Companion of Honour in 1952, and being awarded a life peerage in 1956, the year he died. It was a life peerage in 1956, the year he died, the first musician to be so honored. Despite his many accolades, Britten remained modest: "People sometimes seem to think that, with a number of works now left behind, one must be bursting with confidence," he observed. "I am not so at all, I haven't achieved the simplicity I should like in my music, and I am enormously aware that I haven't yet come to the technical standards Bridge set me."

Johann Sebastian Bach

Johann Sebastian Bach was born in 1685 in Eisenach, Germany, into a family that had produced church and town-band musicians for over 500 years. Orphaned at age 3, he was raised by an older brother who was an organist, and who taught young Sebastian. Music was the boy was endlessly curious about every aspect of the art. "I had to work hard," he said; "Anyone who works as hard will get just as far."

Bach began his professional career at 16, when he was appointed organist at a church in Arnstadt. At 23, he became court organist and chamber musician to the Duke of Weimar. During his nine years in this post (1708-1717), he gained fame as an organ virtuoso and composer. From 1723 to 1750, Bach served first as cantor and then as music director in the Lutheran church, producing suites, concertos, sonatas for various instruments, a great amount of keyboard music, and the six Brandenburg Concertos, the fourth of which you are about to enjoy. Maria Barbara, Bach's wife and the mother of his seven children, died in 1720, and the composer soon married Anna Magdalena, a young singer who proved to be a loyal and understanding wife, and who provided her mate with thirteen more children.

When he was 38, Bach took the position of Cantor of St. Thomas's in Leipzig, one of the most important musical posts in Germany. He taught there and trained the choristers of the city's chief churches (he had to teach non-musical subjects as well); he also served as music director, composer, choirmaster, and organist of St. Thomas' Church. In this position that he held for the rest of his life, Bach produced monumental musical masterworks, including the Christmas Oratorio, the St. Matthew Passion, the Mass in B Minor, The Musical Offering, and The Art of the Fugue, thought to be an occupied by the cares of his large family and circle of friends, the tasks of a very busy professional life, and ongoing struggles with the officials of town, school, and church who never recognized that they were dealing with perhaps the greatest musical genius ever born. Though the composer described himself as living "amongst continual vexation, envy, and persecution..." he remained in Leipzig for 27 years. At last, he eyesight failed, and he suffered a stroke followed by a raging fever. He died July 28, 1750, leaving only a very modest material estate, but bequeathing to us a wondrous wealth of musical treasures.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>VIOLIN</th>
<th>VIOLA</th>
<th>FLUTE</th>
<th>HORN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Susan Carpenter</td>
<td>Beatrice Dolf</td>
<td>Shari Müller-Ho</td>
<td>Don Crevie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lauren Daugherty</td>
<td>Audrey Don</td>
<td>Melissa Underhill</td>
<td>Jim Hendrickson</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stacey Dye</td>
<td>James Lurie</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stephen Hegg</td>
<td>Katherine McWilliams*</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sue Herrin</td>
<td>Håkan Olsson</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manchung Ho</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fritz Klein*</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avron Maletzky</td>
<td>Pat Lyon</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stephen Provine*</td>
<td>Julie Reed</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nicola Shangrow</td>
<td>Annie Roberts</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Janet Showalter</td>
<td>Karen Thomson</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kenna Smith-Shangrow</td>
<td>Matthew Wyant*</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* principal</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>BASS</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Steve Messick</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Chris Simison*</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

JOHANN SEBASTIAN BACH

ST. JOHN PASSION

George Shangrow conducts
Orchestra Seattle and the Seattle Chamber Singers

*Stephen Ng, Evangelist
*Michael Delos, Christus
*Ann Caroline Bird, Kathryn Weld
*Stephen Wall & Brian Box

soloists

Palm Sunday, March 20 – 7:00 p.m.

Benaroya Hall – Seattle

Tickets: (206) 682-5208 or www.osscs.org

LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN

SYMPHONY NO. 9 “CHORAL”

George Shangrow conducts
Orchestra Seattle and the Seattle Chamber Singers

Saturday, June 4 – 7:30 p.m.

McIntyre Hall – Mt. Vernon

Tickets: (360) 416-7727

Sunday, June 5 – 7:00 p.m.

Benaroya Hall – Seattle

Tickets: (206) 682-5208 or www.osscs.org

---

Music for Youth — Partners in Education

Aurora Borealis String Quartet (performing in the Seattle program, 1/16/2005)

*Violin I: Lisa Kim, 16, Skyline High School
Violin II: Amanda Hu, 16, Garfield High School
Viola: Tony Parce, 18, Newport High School
Cello: Lavena Johanson, 15, Roosevelt High School*

The Aurora Borealis Quartet was formed in the summer of 2004 at Camp Nirvana, a two-week intensive chamber music experience (http://www.chambermusicmadness.org/) under the direction of Karen Iglichtin, national winner of Chamber Music America’s Award for Excellence in Chamber Music Teaching for 2002. The quartet has since studied and rehearsed together as students of Karen’s at her ongoing chamber music program, Beyond Nirvana, and under the coaching of Richard Skerlong, Violin Principal Emeritus of the Seattle Symphony. Though the members come from four different greater Seattle area high schools, they are brought together by their love of chamber music.

Orchestra Seattle holds auditions annually for young musicians for various performance opportunities, both solo and ensemble, as a regular part of our concert series. This program, along with our “complimentary tickets for youth,” provides venues for young people to participate in making music in a dynamic and supportive situation. Inquiries should be directed to: webmaster@osscs.org.
MAESTRO CIRCLE [$10,000 or more]
Nancy E. Dilworth
Barbara & Eugene Kidder
COMPOSER CIRCLE [$5,000-$9,999]
Catherine Hanlon
Jodi Hoar
Cynthia Koerner
Gail Kopp
Beverly C. Larrabee
Barbara L. Linn
Diane L. McAlpin
Richard P. Miller
Mark A. Moore
William R. O’Malley
Karen R. Palmer
Barbara S. Pisani
Gerald B. Rudolph
Arturo G. Segura
Karen L. Spackman
Donna Z. Stipan
John J. Tinka
Herman W. Wendt
ORCHESTRA SEATTLE
George Shangrow, conductor
HENRY PURCELL (1659-1695)
Trino Sonata in C Major, Z. 731
Sonata (Andante) – Canzona (Allegro) – Largo – Allegro
Fritz Klein, Stephen Provine, violins – George Shangrow, harpsichord – Julie Reed, cello
GEORG FRIEDRICH HANDEL (1685-1759)
Concerto Grosso in d minor, Op. 6 No. 10
Ouverture – Allegro – Lamento – Air (Lento) – Allegro – Allegro – Allegro moderato
Fritz Klein, Stephen Provine, violins, Matthew Wyant, cello
FRANZ JOSEPH HAYDN (1732-1809)
Symphony No. 6 in D Major, “Le Matin” (Morning)
Adagio – Allegro
Adagio – Andante – Vivace
Menuet and Trio (Jeff Eldridge, bassoon, Katherine McWilliams, viola, Chris Simson, bass)
Finale: Allegro (Fritz Klein, violin)
— Intermission —
Music for Youth — Partners in Education
Special Guest Student Performers – Aurora Borealis String Quartet
Lisa Kim & Amanda Hu, violins; Anthony Pace, viola; Lavena Johnson, cello
Performing LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN (1770-1827)
String Quartet Opus 59, No. 2 “Razumovsky”: Allegro
BENJAMIN BRITTEN/GIOACCHINO ROSSINI (1913-1976)
Soirées musicales, Opus 9
March – Canzonetta – Tirosele – Bolero – Tarantella
JOHANN SEBASTIAN BACH (1685-1750)
Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 in G, BWV 1049
Allegro
Andante
Presto
Stephen Provine, violin solo; Shari Muller-Ho & Melissa Underhill, flutes
Please disconnect signal watches, pagers and cellular telephones. Thank you.
Use of cameras and recording equipment is not permitted in the concert hall.